REPAIR VANDALISM

The Queensbury Masonic Historical Society facility was ravaged by vandals in the summer of 2007. The Cub Scouts of Pack 17 came to the rescue and painted over the graffiti.

Mayor Roy Akins visits with the Pack before they begin their work. Another Society Member, Dan Saville, was instrumental in providing materials and guidance.

Emergency Service

Eagle Scout Project

In order to become an Eagle Scout, it is necessary to design and implement a community service project. This is no easy matter, since the Scout is required to layout the project in a proposal, and include funding, timeline for completion, and a detailed description of the project. When the project is complete, the Scout must receive approval and acceptance from the recipient.

Dalton Whaley, a Life Scout in Troup 9, South Glens Falls, heard about the extensive damage done to the QMHS facility by vandals, and he decided to make it his Eagle Scout project. His project included the demolition of a damaged storage shed and the construction of a new, sturdier shed. He secured funding from local businesses and went to work.

Executive Director Feted by Grand Lodge

At the Communication Of Grand Lodge Free & Accepted Masons, held in New York City in May, Allan Bryant was the recipient of the Chancellor Robert R. Livingston Medallion. This coveted award is generally presented to Masons in the State for literary accomplishments. Specifically, Bryant has been active with the NY Masons Child ID Program and has authored the last two operations manuals. In addition, he designed and implemented security systems for the Grand Communication including Delegate identification cards.

Congratulations on this major accomplishment.

After Installing Steel Doors For Added Security, Putting On The Finishing Touch

In His Own Words

My name is Dalton Whaley and I am a Life Scout in Troop 9, South Glens Falls, NY. I was also a cub scout in Pack 17 from Queensbury, NY. The next step in scouting after Life is becoming an Eagle Scout.

This is the highest rank in scouting and a very special honor. When I was looking for an Eagle Project, I was approached by one of my old cub scout leaders. He told me that the Masonic Lodge (who sponsor Pack 17) was in need of a new shed. The current one was old, weathered, and had been vandalized.

I spoke with the Masonic Chief and planned/ designed a new shed, which he approved of. I had to then plan to have fund raisers, get donations, and schedule when I could carry out the project.

The new shed was completed as of Dec. 2007.

Congratulations

project
